FAQ's

What is your approach to a wedding?

Ben & I like to keep things natural and relaxed so we can capture real moments as they happen. We may give you a little direction a few times throughout the day but for the most part we will hang back and do our thing! We prefer to be discreet and unobtrusive so most of the time you won't even notice we're there!

How long does it take you to edit your photos and film?

Usually we like to allow 6-8 weeks for you to receive the finished product, sometimes a little longer during peak periods. But we'll be sure to give you a few little sneak peaks along the way and keep you updated on our progress!

What music will you use in our highlights film?

Due to copyright laws we are unable to use commercial songs in your highlights film. Luckily we have some incredible libraries with hundreds of independent artists and different styles.

Music is crucial to the editing process, the song is like the bones of the film - it helps with the flow and builds emotion. Ben and I spend many hours choosing a song that suits your wedding theme and taste. And we haven't had a complaint about our music choice yet!!

Do you use a drone?

We usually use a drone to get landscape shots of the reception or ceremony location. Drones are noisy and obtrusive! So we only use these away from the wedding guests and only if time, weather and local restrictions permit.

Do you provide raw footage?

No, unfortunately not. There are many reasons. One being that the style we shoot is for your cinematic highlights film. This means everything we shoot (with the exception of your ceremony and speeches) is in 5 - 10 second clips from different angles so when we cut them together they make an incredible highlights film. With the quality and size of the raw files combined with our shooting style, it would not be possible to have the camera rolling throughout the entire day. Another reason being that we shoot in a flat colour so that we can colour correct and add our signature look to your film. The edit is the main part of a wedding film. We spend many hours carefully crafting your footage into something amazing. The raw footage is only a very small part of the end product. But good news is, you receive your full ceremony as well as your cinematic highlights so all the parts of your day are covered in one of the two video files.

Do you use audio snippets from the ceremony & speeches in the highlights film?

Not always. We will use audio if it enhances the film. But usually during the ceremony people's nerves tend to take over and they don't always express themselves in the most natural way. We do encourage all our couples to write each other a short letter or love note to exchange and read during the prep time. This adds a beautiful, emotional moment that we love using in our films.

If we hire you for video only, will you get along with my photographer?

Ben and I pride ourselves on being able to work with all your other vendors. Particularly your photographer as we work so closely with them all day. We are both very easy going people and we will hang back, let your photographer do their thing and work around them. I usually send them an email a few weeks prior to the wedding to introduce ourselves and let them know a little about us and how we work. We want your wedding day to be as incredible as it can be so by working well and having good communication with all your other vendors this makes everything run much more smoothly.

What now?

If you decide we'd make a good fit, we'd be thrilled to have a share in your big day!

To secure your wedding date we require a 25% deposit with the remainder due two weeks prior to your wedding day, as well as our online contract filled out.

If you'd like to book us for photography, we'll arrange a time to meet up (if based in Perth) or Skype and chat about your day. We love to be involved in the planning process to help you allow enough time for each part of the wedding day so you're not stressed or rushed and so that your photos (and film) can be the very best they can be.

For videography we're more than happy to meet up or Skype if you'd like. However, our online questionnaire does have all the info we need and I'll give you a call a few weeks before the wedding to run through the day with you.

We look forward to chatting with you soon! Ben & Lauren xx
